

Camp Axios is a place where kids can enjoy an incredible camping experience while learning to appreciate their worthiness and human potential. Camp Axios is a nondenominational camping program for inner city, at risk youth.

FIVE DAYS CAN MAKE A DIFFERENCE IN A CHILD'S LIFE

THE CAMP OFFERS a full week of activities with extraordinary guest speakers and staff. The children enjoy swimming, hiking, campfires and sporting events. They are also presented with serious motivational programs dealing with such issues as anger management, peer pressure, education, and drug and gang prevention. They leave camp with the tools necessary to face their challenges and the potential for making better choices in their lives.

THE SUCCESS OF our program has been reinforced each year, as we see many of our campers improve in school, strengthen family ties, and become involved in worthwhile community projects. Our motto, Five Days Can Make a Difference in a Child's Life, has fueled our continued commitment to provide a memorable and valuable week.

Camp Axios: Kids Learn To Believe In Themselves

GENEROUS SPONSORS PROVIDE a free week of camp to these deserving children and show them that there are people who really care about making our world a better and safer place. Camp Axios is held at Lazy W Ranch, located in beautiful San Juan Capistrano.

For more information, contact:

September Sucher
310-650-5943 • sbds@cox.net

To start a Camp Axios program in your own community, please contact:

Andrea Boerger
310-809-1540 • bounciebird@aol.com

You can be a sponsor of Camp Axios! Help disadvantaged children enjoy a lifetime experience at camp. To sponsor a child, contact:

Father John Bakas
1324 S. Normandie Ave.
Los Angeles, CA 90006
323-737-2424 • frbakas@stsophia.org

AXIOS IS A GREEK WORD MEANING "WORTHY"